Speakers: Professor Susumu Kitagawa

The Deputy Director of iCeMS (Institute for Integrated Cell-Material Sciences) /
Professor of iCeMS and Faculty of Engineering

and Researchers of his laboratory

How do you separate things already jumbled?
And what if they are tiny molecules?

It's a house, we are talking about.
An order-made, cozy house where each single molecule can be comfortably accommodated.
A house designed to perfectly match
the size and the character of a molecule.
Once you make these houses for different molecules,
molecules themselves find their own houses,
sorting themselves each other.

Come talk about "Molecule and House" with Prof. Susumu Kitagawa, a.k.a. "Molecular Architect."
